PRAIRIE FIRES DESTRUCTIVE IN TWO STATES

FOUR DEATHS ARE REPORTED, ONE MAN IS MISSING

ON THE NEBRASKA LINE MORE THAN 100,000 ACRES HAVE BURNED

ALONG MISSOURI RIVER FIRE DID HEAVY DAMAGE TO FARM BUILDINGS

(By United Press) Prairie fires wrought destruction in widely separated sections of South Dakota today. Four deaths were reported and another man is missing and believed dead.

On the Nebraska line more than 100,000 acres had burned over early today and some small villages—Tut-hill, St. Francis and Vetel were damaged by flames.

Near the North Dakota line a fire driven by a gale swept over the prairie approximately 15 miles wide and 50 miles long.

Along the Missouri river in the western section of the state another fire caused heavy damage to farm buildings. In this section considerable livestock was destroyed.

Fires near the Rosebud Indian reservation were reported under control today and damage in that section was minimized.

PROPERTY DAMAGED, LIVES MENACED

Pierre, S. D., March 27.—Prairie fires in widely scattered sections of western South and North Dakota caused great property damage and menaced lives, according to reports received here. One man was reported dead near Waller, S. D., and a woman and two children at Tuthill, S. D. One of the fire zones is south of Bismarck, S. D., on the North and South Dakota boundary, while another is in the Rosebud territory of South Dakota, extending towards Valentine, Nebraska.

Practically every resident of Gregory, S. D., was called into action to keep the fires in that district from sweeping the town.

One of the fire zones extend from White River, S. D., to Merryman, Neb., a distance of 50 miles. No moisture has fallen in this territory for several weeks.

Sioux Falls, S. D., March 27.—Prairie fires terrorized south central South Dakota today.

Three villages were reported damaged and casualties were reported from different sections.

Tuthill, St. Francis and Vetel were damaged by fire as the flames swept by.

On the South Dakota-Nebraska side three timber fires burned over more than 100,000 acres of prairie land.

Fires on the North Dakota line and at the western edge of the state in the Grand River valley were reported to have been brought under control. There were scores of scattered fires through the region.

Driven by a 40-mile gale, some of the fires got beyond control and seared everything in its path. Farm buildings were ruined and livestock perished as flames spread.

Reports that three persons perished at Tuthill were not confirmed because of the failure of communication in the fire zone. A new fire imperilled Fort Yates on the Missouri river in the west end of the state today. The fire was reported to have spread over the widest areas. Towns nearby turned out in a mass to fight flames.

W. M. AUSTIN, RANCHER, MAY BE FIRE VICTIM

Carson, S. D., March 27.—W. M. Austin, rancher, is believed to have lost his life fighting a prairie fire near Fort Yates. Reports from Southridge state he is missing.

The fire in that section started near Southridge and extended east towards Fort Yates and south to McLaughlin and Wakpala. It burned rapidly in the tall prairie grass and covered an area 15 to 20 miles wide and 40 to 50 miles long.

Several ranch homes were destroyed.

BIG MOSE BARNETT IS PUT ON STAND IN MILL CITY CASE

POLICE SEEK TO LEARN MORE ABOUT SHOOTING OF JOHN LEROY ROGERS

BOTH CHARACTERS ARE WELL KNOWN IN MINNEAPOLIS UNDERWORLD

(By United Press) Minneapolis, March 27.—"Big Mose" Barnett was put on the stand today as police sought to learn more about the shooting of John Leroy Rogers. Both characters are well known to the underworld of the Twin Cities—Rogers as a gunman and "Big Mose" as a saloonkeeper.

Barnett gave himself up to police late Thursday as the man who is alleged to have shot Rogers Wednesday night. Rogers is in a serious condition with three bullet wounds. He at first refused to name his assailant, but later told the police and his wife it was Barnett. Before giving himself up, Barnett arranged for bail. He was taken at once before Judge B. L. Smith and his emissaries who preceded him, arranged bail. Within half an hour after he surrendered, he was free again.

Police ascribe the shooting to ill-feeling over Davenport's case. "Big Mose" was a close friend of J. B. Davenport who is fighting extradition to Milwaukee for the $300,000 Northwestern National Bank robbery. Rogers is said to have tipped the police, resulting in Davenport's arrest. It was also learned Rogers was to have been called as a state witness against Ben and Abe Gleeman, bootleggers, accused of the murder of Bert Stevens.

The man killed, a negro, was struck by lightning while he lay in one of the refugee tents put up since the death-dealing cyclone last week. Property damage came from the rain pelting down on household property which had not been placed under cover since the cyclone.

BLUE LAWS DIE HARD IN UNITED STATES

PENNSYLVANIA HAS BANNED ALL SUNDAY FISHING

SPEED OF A DONKEY PASSING A CEMETERY IS ALSO LIMITED

New York, March 27.—The day of the "blue law" in America has not yet passed.

Restrictive legislation dealing with subjects ranging from evolution to the speed with which a donkey may be driven past a cemetery on Sunday has held its own in the 1925 sessions of the state legislatures.

Reports gathered by the United Press from all parts of the country show that in approximately half of the instances where "blue laws" were considered the advocates of restrictive legislation won by preventing repeal of existing laws, passing new laws, or defeating measures designated to liberalize the statutes.

The result is that if your doctor gives you a liquor prescription in Texas it's going to be published for three days, so all your friends can know that you've been sick and had to take "one tablespoonful three times a day."

And if your wife's hatpin is too long, she'll be subject to punishment in Massachusetts.

No Sunday Fishing And one cannot go fishing on Sunday in Pennsylvania.

Ohio's legislature is considering the propriety of driving a donkey past a cemetery faster than six miles an hour.

A law prohibiting such unseemly bursts of speed is among 82 measures the Ohio legislature considers repealing. Most of the 82 have to do with the licensing and operation of saloons and are considered useless. But the donkey law is among them.

The same Ohio legislature has passed a law forbidding Sunday dances at which more than five couples are in attendance.

Tennessee Bans Darwin Tennessee grappled with evolution and passed a law forbidding its teaching in the public schools on the grounds that the Bible settled the question and that evolution is wrong. The Texas legislature repealed a law against sale of gasoline and oil in certain cities on Sunday.

In Nebraska the house passed a bill permitting bill-board advertising of cigars, but its fate in the senate is doubtful. "Boys and girls learn (Continued on Page 6)

BODY OF DR. OSCAR OLSON IS ALSO EXHUMED TODAY

(By United Press) Chicago, March 27.—The body of Dr. Oscar Olson was exhumed today to determine whether death was caused by poison. Chemists from the office of Coroner Oscar Wolf started an examination of the body in the cemetery offices.

At the same time, other officials from Wolf's office started digging up the body of Mrs. Emma McClintock who died 16 years ago.

The exhumations were ordered for the purpose of securing further evidence against William D. Shepherd who is charged with killing his millionaire ward, Billy McClintock.

SCREEN INCOME TAX PAYMENTS

NO PUBLICITY TO PAYMENTS UNTIL BLAIR FIRST SCRUTINIZES THEM

Washington, March 27.—The treasury department ordered all Internal Revenue collectors not to make public the new income tax payments until Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair has scrutinized all figures on returns and given an official order for publication.

This will delay publication of the figures, expected within a few days, for at least two months, officials said.

Ice Cream Firm Sued for $50,000 When Old Hebrew Law Is Violated at Party

Newark, N. J., March 27.—A new issue in law was raised yesterday with the filing in circuit court of a suit for $50,000 damages against the Castle Ice Cream Co. by Morris Heyman, who declares the company forced him, his wife and silver wedding anniversary guests to sin inadvertently.

Heyman's suit complains that he ordered 12 bricks of ice from the company to serve his guests and that instead ice cream was sent, a mistake not discovered until all had eaten the dessert. Because they already had eaten meat this constituted a violation of a canon of Hebrew law which rules that both meat and milk shall not be eaten at the same table.

Heyman alleges his guests became angered and left in haste; that his reputation has been materially damaged, that he lost large sums of money in his business as a result, and is an object of suspicion to his orthodox. He asks $25,000, while his wife asks a like sum for a blackened name which has been held up to scorn and ridicule.

VOTE LAST NIGHT STOOD 118 TO 7 AFTER LONG FIGHT

LICENSE FEES ON SMALL CARS CUT FROM $12 TO $10 MINIMUM

MANY ATTEMPTS ARE MADE TO AMEND, BILL NOW GOES TO SENATE

(By United Press) St. Paul, March 27.—Automobile license taxes in Minnesota are reduced 1-6 under a bill passed by the legislature last night. The vote was 118 to 7.

License fees on small cars were cut from $12.00 to $10.00 minimum and cars weighing over 2,000 pounds were given a minimum of $12.50 instead of $15.00.

During the six hour fight on the measure many attempts were made to amend the bill for higher rates. The proposed cut would reduce the highway department revenue $1,500,000 annually.

The bill now goes to the senate.

$4,000,000 MORE FOR RURAL CREDIT LOANS

St. Paul, March 27.—The state house of representatives this afternoon was ready to pass a bill authorizing $4,000,000 more in bonds for rural credit bureau loans.

After a three-hour debate the house adjourned at 1 p. m. until 2 p. m. At that time it had before it an amendment which would cut the issue to $2,000,000, but defeat of this proposal was regarded as certain.

The bill was signed by 74 authors or eight more than the number of votes necessary to pass it.

This measure and two others affecting the rural credit bureau will now go to the senate.

One of the other bills passed 117 to nothing, lowering the valuation on real estate for the purpose of making loans from 60 per cent to 50 per cent putting the state bureau on the same basis as the federal land bank.

It also lowers the valuation on improvements from 33 1-3 per cent to 30 per cent and lessens the amount of any individual loan from $15,000 to $12,000.

In view of the revelations made in the legislative investigation into the bureau, provision was made for checks and restrictions to stop abuses that were found.

Among these is the division of the state into five districts for the purpose of making appraisals and providing a district appraiser in each.

These district appraisers are required to review the findings of the local appraisers wherever the maximum loan is asked or on the request of the credit bureau.

The other bill repeals the soldiers' preference part of the present law which it is claimed resulted in a disastrous situation at the Argonne Farms and other veterans' projects.

At present the veterans may borrow up to 75 per cent of the value of their real estate and up to 66 2-3 per cent of the value of improvements. The new bill places veterans on a par with other borrowers.

Governor Seeks Wife, But Not For Himself

St. Paul, March 27.—Wanted—a wife.

This is the "ad" Gov. Theodore Christianson asked newspapers to insert for him today.

But the ad is not for himself.

It is for a wife, either a maiden or a widow, between 25 and 35, and who owns a farm, for Christian Hoyt, Sanger, N. D.

Mr. Hoyt wrote a letter to the governor extolling his (Hoyt's) virtues, and including with the above information, the fact that he is 36 years old, is 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighs 220 pounds, and never before has been married.

He wants a wife with a farm, he says, because he is now renting a farm.

No Sunday Fishing
And one cannot go fishing on Sunday in Pennsylvania.

Ohio's legislature is considering the propriety of driving a donkey past a cemetery faster than six miles an hour.

A law prohibiting such unseemly bursts of speed is among 82 measures the Ohio legislature considers repealing. Most of the 82 have to do with the licensing and operation of saloons and are considered useless. But the donkey law is among them.

The same Ohio legislature has passed a law forbidding Sunday dances at which more than five couples are in attendance.

Tennessee Bans Darwin
Tennessee grappled with evolution and passed a law forbidding its teaching in the public schools on the grounds that the Bible settled the question and that evolution is wrong.

TRUE BILL IS RETURNED AGAINST SENATOR WHEELER

(By United Press)
Washington, March 27.—A true bill indicting Senator Burton K. Wheeler, Montana democrat, on a charge of conspiracy in connection with Montana oil deals was returned today by the District of Columbia grand jury.

Edwin Both and Gordon Campbell of Montana were indicted with Wheeler on the same charges.

REMAINS OF MRS. EMMA MCCLINTOCK TO BE DISINTERRED

BODY OF DR. OSCAR OLSON IS ALSO EXHUMED TODAY

(By United Press)
Chicago, March 27.—The body of Dr. Oscar Olson was exhumed today to determine whether death was caused by poison. Chemists from the office of Coroner Oscar Wolf started an examination of the body in the cemetery offices.

At the same time, other officials from Wolf's office started digging up the body of Mrs. Emma McClintock who died 16 years ago.

The exhumations were ordered for the purpose of securing further evidence against William D. Shepherd who is charged with killing his millionaire ward, Billy McClintock.

SCREEN INCOME TAX PAYMENTS

NO PUBLICITY TO PAYMENTS UNTIL BLAIR FIRST SCRUTINIZES THEM

Washington, March 27.—The treasury department ordered all Internal Revenue collectors not to make public the new income tax payments until Internal Revenue Commissioner Blair has scrutinized all figures on returns and given an official order for publication.

This will delay publication of the figures, expected within a few days, for at least two months, officials said.

Ice Cream Firm Sued for $50,000 When Old Hebrew Law Is Violated at Party

Newark, N. J., March 27.—A new issue in law was raised yesterday with the filing in circuit court of a suit for $50,000 damages against the Castle Ice Cream Co. by Morris Heyman, who declares the company forced him, his wife and silver wedding anniversary guests to sin inadvertently.

Heyman's suit complains that he ordered 12 bricks of ice from the company to serve his guests and that instead ice cream was sent, a mistake not discovered until all had eaten the dessert. Because they already had eaten meat this constituted a violation of a canon of Hebrew law which rules that both meat and milk shall not be eaten at the same table.

Heyman alleges his guests became angered and left in haste: that his reputation has been materially damaged, that he lost large sums of money in his business as a result, and is an object of suspicion to his orthodox. He asks $25,000, while his wife asks a like sum for a blackened name which has been held up to scorn and ridicule.

Probably the archeologist of the distant future will dig up conclusive evidence that the first man who lived in America came from Asia by airplane. — San Antonio Evening News.

VOTE LAST NIGHT STOOD 118 TO 7 AFTER LONG FIGHT

LICENSE FEES ON SMALL CARS CUT FROM $12 TO $10 MINIMUM

MANY ATTEMPTS ARE MADE TO AMEND, BILL NOW GOES TO SENATE

(By United Press)
St. Paul, March 27.—Automobile license taxes in Minnesota are reduced 1-6 under a bill passed by the legislature last night. The vote was 118 to 7.

License fees on small cars were cut from $12.00 to $10.00 minimum and cars weighing over 2,000 pounds were given a minimum of $12.50 instead of $15.00.

During the six hour fight on the measure many attempts were made to amend the bill for higher rates. The proposed cut would reduce the highway department revenue $1,500,000 annually.

The bill now goes to the senate.

$4,000,000 MORE FOR RURAL CREDIT LOANS

St. Paul, March 27.—The state house of representatives this afternoon was ready to pass a bill authorizing $4,000,000 more in bonds for rural credit bureau loans.

After a three-hour debate the house adjourned at 1 p. m. until 2 p. m. At that time it had before it an amendment which would cut the issue to $2,000,000, but defeat of this proposal was regarded as certain. The bill was signed by 74 authors or eight more than the number of votes necessary to pass it.

This measure and two others affecting the rural credit bureau will now go to the senate.

One of the other bills passed 117 to nothing, lowers the valuation on real estate for the purpose of making loans from 60 per cent to 50 per cent putting the state bureau on the same basis as the federal land bank.

It also lowers the valuation on improvements from 33 1-3 per cent to 30 per cent and lessens the amount of any individual loan from $15,000 to $12,000.

In view of the revelations made in the legislative investigation into the bureau, provision was made for checks and restrictions to stop abuses that were found.

Among these is the division of the state into five districts for the purpose of making appraisals and providing a district appraiser in each.

These district appraisers are required to review the findings of the local appraisers wherever the maximum loan is asked or on the request of the credit bureau.

The other bill repeals the soldiers' preference part of the present law which it is claimed resulted in a disastrous situation at the Argonne Farms and other veterans' projects.

At present the veterans may borrow up to 75 per cent of the value of their real estate and up to 66 2-3 per cent of the value of improvements. The new bill places veterans on a par with other borrowers.

Governor Seeks Wife, But Not For Himself

St. Paul, March 27.—Wanted—a wife.

This is the "ad" Gov. Theodore Christanson asked newspapers to insert for him today.

But the ad is not for himself. It is for a wife, either a maiden or a widow, between 25 and 35, and who owns a farm, for Christian Hoyt, Sanger, N. D.

Mr. Hoyt wrote a letter to the governor extolling his (Hoyt's) virtues, and including with the above information, the fact that he is 36 years old, is 5 feet, 10 inches tall, weighs 220 pounds, and never before has been married.

He wants a wife with a farm, he says, because he is now renting a farm.

been produced as this gorgeous creation. "Avis" the beautiful dancer of the act has won numerous beauty prizes and was judged as the most perfectly formed woman in the world. To enhance the value of such talent and beauty as Miss Avis possesses, she makes numerous changes of costumes that will cause the fair sex to stare with undisguised admiration and enthusiasm. "Oddities of 1925" is a real headliner and should be witnessed by every theatre-goer.

Ethel De Lyte and Billy Marmon present "A Story Book Revue." It is as neat an offering as has been seen in vaudeville. It is novel and quite out of the ordinary. Miss De Lyte proves to be a dancer of no mean ability and the youth of this clever duo together with their personality will sure please the most fastidious.

Lew Fuller and Gladys Vance in "Taint What—Tiz How We Do It." They are a splendid comedy combination that are bound to make the hardest audience shriek with laughter. It is not what they do, but just how they do it. Lew Fuller is a droll comedian of unlimited talent and his assistant, Miss Vance, is a clever foil for his witty remarks.

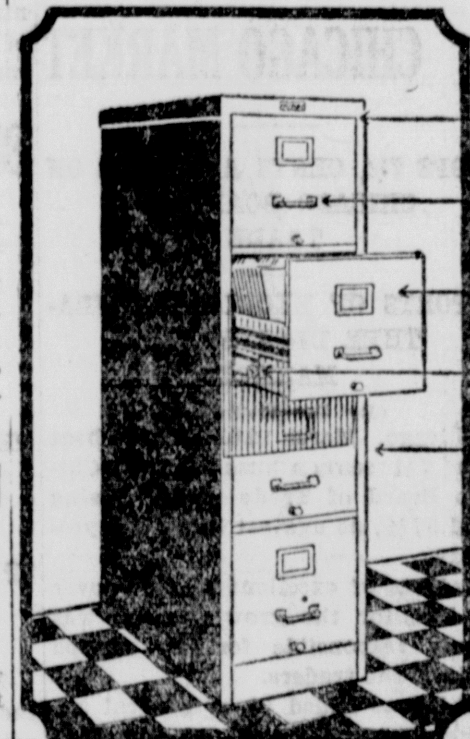

Billy Smith "The Boy From Old New England," opens his performance with a little comedy talk at the piano, singing and playing some of the old time songs that were heard a hundred years ago, also some of the songs that Mr. Smith composed here lately. He is a fine appearing chap and his songs are a credit to the vaudeville theatres throughout the country.

From all reports this is an exceptionally fine bill and we suggest that you come early for seats.

SOGGY LAWNS ARE DAMAGED

A DISPATCH reader has given us this clipping, applicable to Brainerd and any other town that takes pride in well-kept lawns. Tramping feet wear paths in lawns and it is very difficult to eradicate the damage thoughtlessly done.

The article in question cautions youngsters to keep to the sidewalks and avoid people's lawns. Properly owners are after the scalps of the youngsters who are cutting across their grounds and ruining all chances of ever producing a lawn.

The frost is leaving the ground and where the frozen earth bore the ravages of children's feet, bicycles and coaster-wagons, deep ruts and imprints are cut in the soft muggy soil. With the ground cut up now, the chances for repairing the damage are slight.

Then, too, many yards are planted with perennials, crocuses, etc., and although they are not visible now, tramping across them will spoil all chances of their blossoming.

So much for the out-of-town complaint. Here in Brainerd the children are not the only ones to skip across the lawns. One finds individuals fully grown up determined on their way to work to short-cut wherever they feel like it, in spite of the fact that cement walks may run from the sidewalk to the curb, made especially for them to walk on. One man recently had 80 feet of sidewalk added on his property line, under council orders, and all the neighborhood continues to skip across lawns as usual without paying any attention to the walk offered.

MEN'S STYLES

THE other day we were lamenting the fact that men's styles were so common-place, so colorless, so flat. Whereas the whole summer costume of a lady can be compressed in one hand and only weighs two pounds, shoes included, man has to pack around a three-piece suit and accessories.

Now comes a cheering note from Chicago. There is quite a clothing center down there, tons of men's suits and overcoats are made there. Here is the authoritative pronouncement:

Tapering trousers worn with suspenders, bright and vivid colors and suits so designed as to establish the illusion of extreme height in the wearer will mark next fall's styles for men.

Waistcoats will be artfully designed to prevent gaping in front when the wearer is seated.

At all these style shows one sees clothing manufacturers and clothing sellers. Why not call a convention, some time, of the people who wear these clothes and get some ideas from them? All the art, all the originality, all the new ideas do not exist among the manufacturers.

We think it something of an innovation if the clothing men of Chicago, next time they act as censors on what to wear, were to call in a few of the ultimate consumers of their product and get a word or two from them.

MAKE BRAINERD DISTINCTIVE

EVERYONE should have some reason to admire his home town and to always find pleasure in speaking well of it. But most towns in any given territory are much the same. If a visitor were not familiar with the landmarks he would not know what town he was in by things characteristic of that city.

It is the recognition of this fact that is causing public spirited men and women to give valuable time this week in inducing citizens of our city to purchase and grow gladiolus bulbs. If thousands of these are purchased and planted it will make us all proud of our city and it will cause our many summer visitors to note that we have taken ourselves out of the average setting of northern Minnesota towns. Its moral, too, and effect cannot but be good.

This will likely be the last community sale of roots and bulbs. This sale should stimulate interest so that the idea will carry itself in the future. For this reason every resident who can find room to plant bulbs should assist by purchasing at least one hundred of these bulbs, especially when they are obtainable at such a very low price. One other feature should not be overlooked. Our city will be full of Elks attending their state convention. Can the city be better decorated than by every home having a bed of this one flower?

The fact that each home was growing the same flower would make the flowers more commanding in attention. Let all who love their city join in the movement.

A WOMAN AS MAYOR

AT Pine River Minnie P. Brewer, serving on the council three years as trustee, was elected president of the village council, defeating W. C. Cromett by seven votes.

In her thanks to the voters, recently published, the new mayor says: "I stand for economy. Pine River is bonded to the limit. Some day those obligations must be met. Our affairs must be so administered that we will be prepared when that time comes."

"I stand for everything that will uplift the community morale. I stand for cleanliness. Pine River is the prettiest town in this section of the country. Let us make it so clean and attractive that it will be remembered by those passing through and make them wish to return."

EATING carrots for the nerves is something new. Lillian Gish has set the fashion, nibbling the succulent vegetables as she attended court. Maybe the carrots account for the translucent clarity of Lillian's complexion. Anyway, it's no joke, for as kids we consumed a lot of carrots and we had better, rosier cheeks in those days than ever after.

THE stork is keeping ahead of the grim reaper according to vital statistics covering Brainerd and Crow Wing county.

Other People's Opinions

A REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Mr. Cobb has given freely of his services in favor of a new high school. The statement has frequently been made that a new high school is an absolute necessity. We are all practically agreed that more school room is required. Some people believe a new high school is the solution and others believe that a great deal of money would be saved and all essential requirements fulfilled by additions to our present buildings. No one deliberately wishes to spend money unnecessarily.

I would like to have Mr. Cobb explain where he is to get the necessary number of pupils to fill more than half of the Washington building after the high school students, numbering around 500, are moved to the proposed new high school.

If the number of pupils per room is reduced and more teachers hired in order to use the entire building then the $ mill proposed tax increase requires a boost. I should also like to have him explain how the Lowell school, where a real necessity for an addition exists, is to be taken care of. If a bond issue is required for this addition then the $ mill tax increase requires another boost.

If it cannot be shown that the entire Washington building will be needed at once for grade school purposes then I consider the building of a new high school is a waste of public money. An addition to the present high school could be built which would fulfill every essential requirement except furnishing a show place for tourists and at a saving to the taxpayers of perhaps $200,000 less than the proposed bond issue.

I should also appreciate very much having Mr. Cobb show the school population each year for the past seven years in order that the public may know just what the increase has been. Be kind enough to confine the answer strictly to the questions asked in order that the public may not become confused.

I do not believe a new high school is a necessity at this time but, if it is and the public by their vote declare it is, then let all of us perform a real duty as citizens by paying for the school within the terms of the proposed bond issue, rather than shift a burden of $250,000 on to our children who, no doubt, will have troubles of their own.

This method would require a greater increase in the tax rate but it has merit in the sense that we would really be paying our obligations instead of merely paying interest on the largest part of it.

(Signed) F. M. HAGBERG.

THE SPARK PLUG

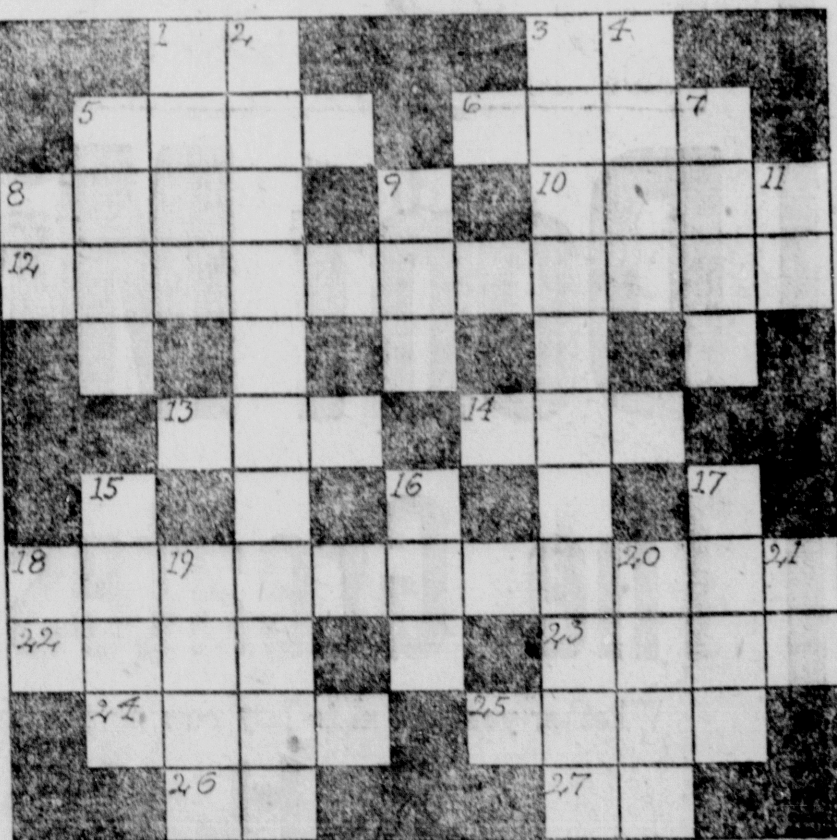

Vitamins to nourish are what a spark-plug is to a motor. To sustain vitality, the body needs three thousand calories of food daily, yet if this food is not activated by vitamins the body is unable to thrive in health or strength.

Scott's Emulsion

SOGGY LAWNS ARE DAMAGED

A DISPATCH reader has given us this clipping, applicable to Brainerd and any other town that takes pride in well-kept lawns. Tramping feet wear paths in lawns and it is very difficult to eradicate the damage thoughtlessly done.

The article in question cautions youngsters to keep to the sidewalks and avoid people's lawns. Property owners are after the scalps of the youngsters who are cutting across their grounds and ruining all chances of ever producing a lawn.

The frost is leaving the ground and where the frozen earth bore the ravages of children's feet, bicycles and coaster-wagons, deep ruts and imprints are cut in the soft muggy soil. With the ground cut up now, the chances for repairing the damage are slight.

Then, too, many yards are planted with perennials, crocuses, etc., and although they are not visible now, tramping across them will spoil all chances of their blossoming.

So much for the out-of-town complaint. Here in Brainerd the children are not the only ones to skip across the lawns. One finds individuals fully grown up determined on their way to work to short-cut wherever they feel like it, in spite of the fact that cement walks may run from the sidewalk to the curb, made especially for them to walk on. One man recently had 80 feet of sidewalk added on his property line, under council orders, and all the neighborhood continues to skip across lawns as usual without paying any attention to the walk offered.

MEN'S STYLES

THE other day we were lamenting the fact that men's styles were so common-place, so colorless, so flat. Whereas the whole summer costume of a lady can be compressed in one hand and only weighs two pounds, shoes included, man has to pack around a three-piece suit and accessories.

Now comes a cheering note from Chicago. There is quite a clothing center down there, tons of men's suits and overcoats are made there. Here is the authoritative pronouncement:

Tapering trousers worn with suspenders, bright and vivid colors and suits so designed as to establish the illusion of extreme height in the wearer will mark next fall's styles for men.

Waistcoats will be artfully designed to prevent gaping in front when the wearer is seated.

At all these style shows one sees clothing manufacturers and clothing sellers. Why not call a convention, some time, of the people who wear these clothes and get some ideas from them? All the art, all the originality, all the new ideas do not exist among the manufacturers.

We think it something of an innovation if the clothing men of Chicago, next time they act as censors on what to wear, were to call in a few of the ultimate consumers of their product and get a word or two from them.

MAKE BRAINERD DISTINCTIVE

EVERYONE should have some reason to admire his home town and to always find pleasure in speaking well of it. But most towns in any given territory are much the same. If a visitor were not familiar with the landmarks he would not know what town he was in by things characteristic of that city.

It is the recognition of this fact that is causing public spirited men and women to give valuable time this week in inducing citizens of our city to purchase and grow gladiolus bulbs. If thousands of these are purchased and planted it will make us all proud of our city and it will cause our many summer visitors to note that we have taken ourselves out of the average setting of northern Minnesota towns. Its moral, too, and effect cannot but be good.

This will likely be the last community sale of roots and bulbs. This sale should stimulate interest so that the idea will carry itself in the future. For this reason every resident who can find room to plant bulbs should assist by purchasing at least one hundred of these bulbs, especially when they are obtainable at such a very low price. One other feature should not be overlooked. Our city will be full of Elks attending their state convention. Can the city be better decorated than by every home having a bed of this one flower?

The fact that each home was growing the same flower would make the flowers more commanding in attention. Let all who love their city join in the movement.

A WOMAN AS MAYOR

AT Pine River Minnie P. Brewer, serving on the council three years as trustee, was elected president of the village council, defeating W. C. Cromett by seven votes.

In her thanks to the voters, recently published, the new mayor says: "I stand for economy. Pine River is bonded to the limit. Some day those obligations must be met. Our affairs must be so administered that we will be prepared when that time comes."

"I stand for everything that will uplift the community morale. I stand for cleanliness. Pine River is the prettiest town in this section of the country. Let us make it so clean and attractive that it will be remembered by those passing through and make them wish to return."

EATING carrots for the nerves is something new. Lillian Gish has set the fashion, nibbling the succulent vegetables as she attended court. Maybe the carrots account for the translucent clarity of Lillian's complexion. Anyway, it's no joke, for as kids we consumed a lot of carrots and we had better, rosier cheeks in those days than ever after.

A REQUEST FOR INFORMATION

Mr. Cobb has given freely of his services in favor of a new high school. The statement has frequently been made that a new high school is an absolute necessity. We are all practically agreed that more school room is required. Some people believe a new high school is the solution and others believe that a great deal of money would be saved and all essential requirements fulfilled by additions to our present buildings. No one deliberately wishes to spend money unnecessarily.

I would like to have Mr. Cobb explain where he is to get the necessary number of pupils to fill more than half of the Washington building after the high school students, numbering around 500, are moved to the proposed new high school.

If the number of pupils per room is reduced and more teachers hired in order to use the entire building then the 8 mill proposed tax increase requires a boost. I should also like to have him explain how the Lowell school, where a real necessity for an addition exists, is to be taken care of. If a bond issue is required for this addition then the 8 mill tax increase requires another boost.

If it cannot be shown that the entire Washington building will be needed at once for grade school purposes then I contend the building of a new high school is a waste of public money. An addition to the present high school could be built which would fulfill every essential requirement except furnishing a show place for tourists and at a saving to the taxpayers of perhaps $200,000 less than the proposed bond issue.

I should also appreciate very much having Mr. Cobb show the school population each year for the past seven years in order that the public may know just what the increase has been. Be kind enough to confine the answer strictly to the questions asked in order that the public may not become confused.

I do not believe a new high school is a necessity at this time but, if it is and the public by their vote declare it is, then let all of us perform a real duty as citizens by paying for the school within the terms of the proposed bond issue, rather than shift a burden of $250,000 on to our children who, no doubt, will have troubles of their own.

This method would require a greater increase in the tax rate but it has merit in the sense that we would really be paying our obligations instead of merely paying interest on the largest part of it.

(Signed) F. M. HAGBERG.

THE SPARK PLUG

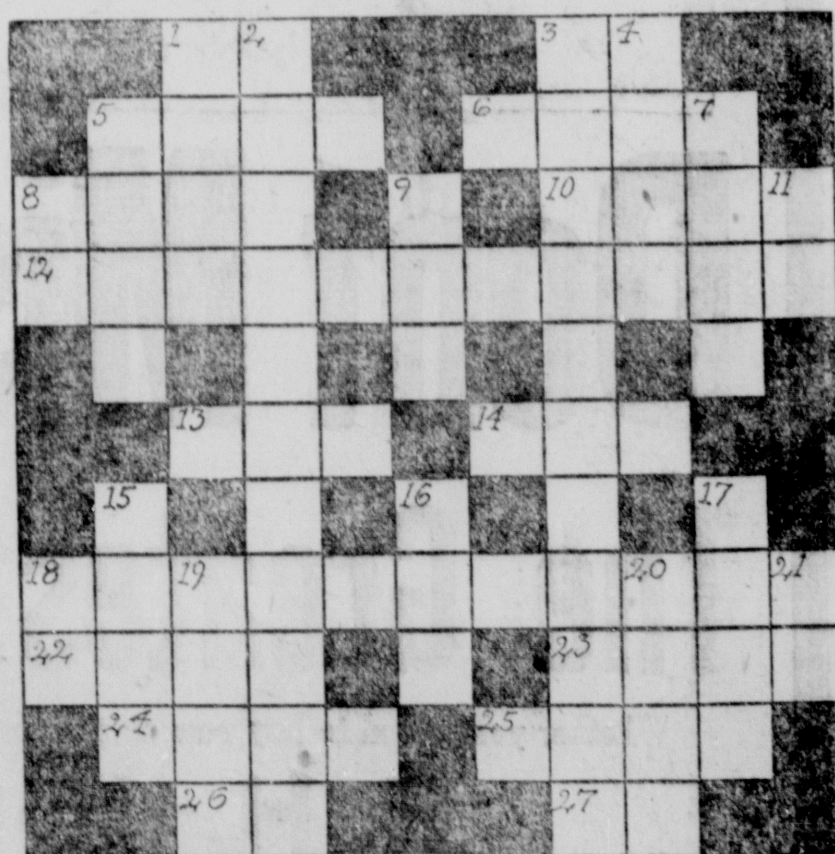

Vitamins to nourish are what a spark-plug is to a motor. To sustain vitality, the body needs three thousand calories of food daily, yet if this food is not activated by vitamins the body is unable to thrive in health or strength.

Scott's Emulsion

brings to a weakened system vitamin-activated nourishment of highest degree. A little taken regularly helps wonderfully to build strength and resistance.

If you would keep strong and vital—activate your diet with Scott's Emulsion.

considering repeal of all blue laws and obsolete legislation.

The Alabama legislature at its last session turned down an anti-evolution bill and one closing amusement places on Sunday. But many cities have their own laws, including Birmingham, where dancing on city property and Sunday amusement are forbidden.

Illinois is considering closer regulation of roadhouses.

Connecticut rejected a proposal to prohibit any noise in the evening that would interfere with radio reception but its legislature still has pending a law forbidding children attending amusement place unaccompanied by an adult, and a strong fight also is expected against a bill permitting Sunday baseball.

In California the legislature would not listen to blue law talk and even tabled without consideration proposals to make illegal the opening of banks on Sunday.

New York decisively defeated a Sunday closing bill which frowned on most everything but going to church and also turned down a clean books bill.

Missouri has pending a Sunday closing bill applying to baseball, theaters and to all labor except household and public service employment. Pennsylvania refused to repeal its law against fishing on Sunday, but is considering repeal of some laws restricting Sunday baseball, amusements and recreation.

A strong effort was made in the Kansas legislature to repeal the anti-cigarette law, but it failed, due to the efforts of the Kansas Anti-cigarette society.

Keynote Sounded in Cause of Fish And Game Life at Izaak Walton League Meeting

CONSERVE NATURAL FORCES

Dinner at Club Marks Chapter Organization With 100 Members

The elimination of wanton wastefulness in fish and game life, and the preservation of these natural resources was the keynote of the organization meeting of the Brainerd chapter, Izaak Walton League of America, held in the Chamber of Commerce parlors on Thursday evening. Enthusiastic sportsmen, numbering about one hundred, gathered for the dinner at 6:15 o'clock and the business meeting which followed.

The event was heralded at 6 o'clock by a short band concert, given in front of the Iron Exchange building by the Brainerd Municipal band. During the meal the band rendered several selections that called forth much favorable comment from the audience.

The dinner was served in excellent manner by chairman George E. Lowe and his committee. The menu included the following:

Roast beef, Brown gravy
Baked Beans, Sauerkraut
Mashed potatoes, Rolls
Brick ice cream, Coffee

Henry I. Cohen, who was largely instrumental in the organization of the local chapter, acted as toastmaster, and presented an interesting short program of after-dinner addresses.

Rev. E. A. Cooke was the first speaker, dwelling on the value of the Izaak Walton League in stopping the devastation of fish and game, and the importance of its preservation. He stated that the true sportsman was the member of the League who advocates proper fish and game laws, and then is properly obedient to those laws.

O. M. Wanyig, heading a delegation of visitors from Deerwood, was the next speaker, complimenting those present on the enthusiasm shown in the local chapter, and stating that it is a chapter is formed on the range it will be real competition for the Brainerd Waltons.

Dr. J. A. Thabes gave a short talk on his experiences as a sportsman and the opportunities of the League in this section, forecasting for it the greatest success.

Dr. Morris, a visitor from Minneapolis, one of the enthusiastic members of the League in this state, outlined some of the accomplishments that the organization proposes, and assured the smaller associations of sportsmen its hearty cooperation and backing. He emphasized the value of fish and game life as the principal drawing power bringing tourists to Minnesota, and that this power can only be maintained by conservation. He pointed out the loss to both Michigan and Wisconsin in allowing the fish and game to become depleted.

Col. C. D. Johnson followed Dr. Morris, stating that while he had never been a fisherman or a hunter, he could easily see the financial benefits to be derived from conserving fish and game life that attract the summer visitors, and was heartily in accord with the ideals of the League.

Henry I. Cohen was elected first president of the Brainerd chapter, in the organization meeting which followed. Mr. Cohen has worked hard in bringing the League to this city, and the members felt that this honor was in a small way an appreciation of his efforts. The officers elected are as follows:

President—Henry I. Cohen.
Vice President—Bert Orne.
Secretary—Walter Paul.
Treasurer—Clyde E. Parker.

The board of directors, in addition to the above officers, include George E. Lowe, chairman, W. R. Hiller, J. F. Cibazar, Dr. J. A. Thabes and A. A. Gleriet.

One hundred and ten members signed the charter, after which the charter membership was closed.

A motion was made to send delegates from the local chapter to the state convention at St. Paul Saturday, and E. R. Wise, W. H. Gemmell and T. C. Larson were selected as these delegates.

Mel Nyman, of the Minneapolis chapter, made the address of the evening, following the business session. He sketched the history of the League, its accomplishments during the short time that it has been in existence, its value to the community, and its program for the future.

In closing, all members arose and repeated the Izaak Walton pledge, bringing to a close one of the most enthusiastic meetings of its kind yet held in this city.

Ten boys, most of them sixteen years or under in age, and one eighteen years old, were taken into custody Thursday afternoon by local authorities, charged with a number of recent robberies and attempted robberies. Seven of these boys are being given a hearing in juvenile court this afternoon.

The youngsters, it is said, confessed to being implicated in the robbery of the Graham and Hall music houses and the Gustafson store in Northeast Brainerd, also in the more recent attempted robberies of the Louis Hostager store and the Brainerd Fruit Company, where an entrance was effected but no merchandise taken.

The boys told of taking musical instrument and articles of clothing to a shack that they had built. Officers visited this shack and found these articles, including two cornets, a dozen mouthorgans, several ukuleles, numerous pairs of hose, shirts, etc.

The evening was spent in games, followed by delicious refreshments. Mr. Nelson was presented with a National Association Letter Carriers' emblem. Nine local carriers, with their families were present.

An interesting feature of the gathering was the compilation of figures by Russell Cass, showing that in the twenty years of his service Mr. Nelson has walked between 99,000 and 100,000 miles, handled 4,800,000 pieces of mail, weighing approximately 241 tons, and answered the prevailing inquiry, "Have you any mail for me today?" no less than 53,000 times.

GLADIOLI BULB SALE SATISFACTORY

Enough Being Sold to Insure to Make Brainerd Bloom Beautifully

NAMED "GLADIOLI CITY"

On Account of Pay Day Next Week, Sale Has Been Continued to Tuesday

The campaign for the sale of gladioli bulbs is progressing most satisfactorily, and it is felt that Brainerd this year will be known generally as the "Gladioli City."

Because many cannot purchase bulbs until pay day, it has been decided to continue the sale until Tuesday of next week. As this will be the only sale of gladioli on such a large scale, it is desired that everyone have an opportunity to make their purchases of the bulbs, which are being ordered in quantities of one hundred or more by each purchaser.

The suggestion that the gladioli be planted generously this year to give the city a fine appearance during the summer visitors' season is meeting with favor on every side, and will bring much credit upon Brainerd it is felt.

G. W. Hunt, of South Bay lake, who far some time has been a gladioli enthusiast, is now adding a number of new specimens to his collection.

It is again urged that all assist the solicitors by taking orders to them instead of waiting for them to do the soliciting. "Help Make Brainerd Blossom" is the slogan.

As this will be the only sale of gladioli on such a large scale, it is desired that everyone have an opportunity to make their purchases of the bulbs, which are being ordered in quantities of one hundred or more by each purchaser.

The suggestion that the gladioli be planted generously this year to give the city a fine appearance during the summer visitors' season is meeting with favor on every side, and will bring much credit upon Brainerd it is felt.

G. W. Hunt, of South Bay lake, who for some time has been a gladioli enthusiast, is now adding a number of new specimens to his collection.

It is again urged that all assist the solicitors by taking orders to them instead of waiting for them to do the soliciting. "Help Make Brainerd Blossom" is the slogan.

Northern Pacific shops for six years and for the last nine years he has been employed at the Angel Flour and Feed store.

These positions have given him an insight into the problems confronting both shopmen and business men. He still has an extensive acquaintance among the shop men and is very popular with them.

Two years ago, Mr. Cain was elected a member of the city council. He has served as chairman of the Purchasing and Property committee, one of the most important committees dealing with city work. He has devoted much time and attention to the public duties and has rendered valuable service.

Alderman Cain is a property owner and taxpayer, and as such appreciates such legislation that would tend to keep this item to the minimum. He is in favor of strict enforcement of the laws, and would work for a cleaner and bigger Brainerd and among other things he would like to see the citizens provided with more and cleaner amusements, and if elected his utmost thought would be for a Clean Business Administration.

MODERN FOOTBALL MONUMENT TO CAMP

By HENRY L. FARRELL
(United Press Sports Editor)

New York, March 27.—Walter Camp was the sixth of nationally known pioneers of American sports who have died recently as all sportsmen want to finish—active to the end.

In a comparatively short space of time, Pop Geers, Percy Haughton, August Belmont, Julius Fleischmann, John M. Ward and Walter Camp reached the end of creditable and useful careers.

It is unusual that within a few months, Walter Camp, the father of football and the guiding genius of Yale's gridiron, and Percy Haughton, the founder of the Harvard football system, have died suddenly. The end of both found them in the harness. Haughton succumbed in the dressing room at Columbia just a few minutes after he had left his team and Camp was found dead in his bed during a meeting of the football rules committee on which he had served for years.

Fate seemed to have spared Walter Camp until it could be said of him that his work had been finished and that his duty had been done faithfully, efficiently and well.

He had spent about 45 years developing the game of football from a brutal game that was threatened with a legislative ban into the ranking college sport of the United States and a sport that is pressing baseball as the national pastime.

It seemed to be a little more than a coincidence that he should be called almost at the moment when the rules committee of the Intercollegiate Football Association was acting upon the opinion that football had finally reached the degree of perfection where no important changes were necessary in the rules. The rules practically were Walter Camp. It was his wise counsel that led the other members of the committee in their deliberations. It was Walter Camp who saw what was wrong with football during the years when the game was not flourishing and it was he who knew what should be done to improve the game. He led the fight in support of the forward pass when other authorities were insisting that it would ruin the game. He had the foresight to know that the forward pass would make football the game that it is now and he held his ground against all opposition.

BUSH AND SHOCKER TO PACK THE PARKS WHEN OPPOSING

GREATEST JOY IN LIFE WHEN
JOE BULLET BEATS
YANKEES

EACH PITCHER HAS A SLANT ON TEAM OPPOSING HIM

(From St. Paul Daily News)
By BILLY EVANS.

St. Petersburg, March 27.—Once a ballplayer is traded or sold by a major league club, said team and manager immediately become his arch enemy.

The greatest joy in life for such a player is to be able to defeat his former teammates. It becomes more or less of an obsession.

Some years ago the New York Americans had Pitcher Urban Shocker on its roster. When Miller Huggins took charge of the club he sent Shocker in a trade to St. Louis.

From the time he joined the St. Louis club until he was returned to New York Shocker was a thorn in the side of the Yanks. In 1921 when Huggins won his first pennant for New York, Shocker several times threatened to upset all calculations by beating the Yanks in pinch games.

The moment Shocker stepped on the rubber the Yankees started to ride him. In turn, Shocker got his satisfaction out of sending the sluggers of that team back to the bench.

Shocker is again with the Yankees. Last winter he was secured in a trade for Joe Bush. Both are veteran pitchers. There is still some doubt as to who benefited most by the deal.

In looking over the Yankees in training here, the fine condition of Shocker was apparent. I commented upon it. He replied:

"I want to show that gang in St. Louis that I am far from through. I am lighter than I have been in six years. The old arm feels great and I look for a big season."

"I hope to beat the Browns at least four games this year. Trimming that ball club is going to be one of my chief delights this summer."

A change of scenery makes a world of difference. Shocker, as a member of the St. Louis Browns, took a keen delight in beating New York; now his main object in life as a member of the Yankees is to trim the Browns.

Joe Bush, sent to St. Louis by New York for Shocker, has always been a jinx for the Browns. It seems to me they didn't beat him over a stretch of three or four years at one stage of his career.

No doubt when Bush and Shocker hook up in a pitching duel this summer it will serve to pack the park whether staged in New York or St. Louis.

INSECT ARMY AT WAR WITH ALL MANKIND

DESTRUCTIVENESS DUE TO DEMANDS FOR FOOD

GROWING MILLIONS OF THE ARMIES OF RUIN

By DALE VAN EVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, March 27.—Thousands of species of insects are engaged in the war with man.

There are those which destroy the mightiest pine trees and those which destroy rose bushes; those which destroy furs and woollens in the household and those which destroy cattle in the fields; those which destroy lawns, shade trees, golf courses, and kitchen gardens and those which destroy the nation's most important crops.

Their destructiveness is due to their insatiable search for food. Most insects multiply at an inconceivable rate because in the ordinary workings of nature few of the thousands or millions of offsprings of one pair of insects ever grows up. But the millions of larvae produced by one male and female in the course of a season eat voraciously during their early lives, even if they fail to complete their life history. It is the excessive birth rate even though it may be accompanied by a relatively high death rate which requires so stupendous an amount of food to sustain the insect population.

Of the myriad species of insects the following are among the better known and may be taken as illustrations of the general scope of the insect menace.

The Cotton Boll Weevil

The boll weevil infests most of the cotton belt of the South, causing an annual damage of nearly $300,000,000. The adult weevil hibernates during the winter, but during the summer produces many generations of offspring which in the larva stage feed upon the squares and bolls of cotton plants. The cotton production of the country would have been entirely destroyed were it not for certain natural enemies of the weevils—parasites which feed upon the larva, other insects which destroy them, birds which eat them, and periodical hot spells which kill a proportion of the young. Measures taken by man, including poisoning with calcium arsenate and regulating the preparation of seed and time of planting, have materially aided in repressing the depredations of the boll weevil, but the insect remains the greatest problem of the cotton planter.

Japanese Beetle

The Japanese beetle was accidentally introduced in Burlington County, New Jersey, in 1916. Like the boll weevil, it does not seem to have been a serious pest in its original environment but it has already become the most dangerous insect menace in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. It eats almost everything green from young fruit to weeds. Measures so far taken have failed to restrict its rapid spread and it is feared it may become as important a crop menace as the boll weevil.

European Corn Borer

The corn borer was introduced from Hungary or Italy in 1909 and has already become a corn pest of prime importance. At present it has been identified only in portions of New England, New York and the borders of Lake Erie. Aside from attacking corn by tunneling in the stalk and in the actual ears, the corn borer attacks many other forms of economic plants, including beans, beets and celery. The department is taking drastic steps to prevent the spread of the pest to the great corn region of the middle west.

Codling Moth

The codling moth is the most notable example of the hundreds of insect pests which cost apple growers approximately 20 per cent of their crop annually. The larva of the moth burrows through the apple, either totally destroying it or spoiling its commercial value.

Cattle Tick

The cattle tick, formerly prevalent through most of the south, injures cattle by blood sucking and by transmitting "tick fever." It has been placed under some control by rigorous quarantine and dipping methods. Nevertheless it constitutes a menace to cattle which must be constantly guarded against and apart from the loss of cattle causes an important economic loss due to the necessity of preventive measures.

Southern Pine Beetle

The southern pine beetle is smaller than a grain of rice and yet its attacks ruins millions of the finest southern pine trees every year. Its larvae burrow under the bark, feeding on the tender inner surface of the bark, eventually killing the tree. Depredations of this beetle have caused far greater loss than forest fires in the south. The one practical method of control recommended by the department is felling infected trees and burning the bark to kill the hibernating beetles.

Fine Distinction Made Between Common Words

"Loan" as a verb is extensively used in the United States. There is some authority for such usage since it has so appeared from time to time in literature over the last four or five hundred years. Such usage, however, is frowned upon by grammarians who insist that "loan" is a noun only, says the Literary Digest.

Dictionaries, which must be simply recorders of the language as it is used, recognize "loan" as a verb, meaning "to lend money, especially on interest," and Doctor Vizetelly in his "Desk Book of Errors in English" says: "Loan, lend; one may raise (put an end to) a 'loan' by paying both principal and interest, and another may 'lend' money to do so. The use of 'loan' as a verb, meaning 'to grant the loan of or lend, as ships, money, linen, provisions, etc.' dates from the year 1200 and is accepted as good English. Some purists, however, characterize it colloquial." To some ears "lend" may be preferable, but "loan" is not incorrect, and has the support of Acts 34 and 35 of Henry VIII (1542), Langley (1644), Fossenden (1729), Calhoun (1834), Brownson (1847), Bonamy-Price (1890) the North American Review, February, 1901, etc.

"Presence" Means Much
A graceful presence bespeaks acceptance, gives a force to language, and helps to convince by look and posture.

CAR IDENTIFIED AS CHAPMAN'S

FIRST LINK IN EVIDENCE WOVEN AGAINST "PRINCE OF CROOKS"

(By United Press)
Hartford, Conn., March 27.—Gerald Chapman, "prince of crooks," on trial here for murder today was identified as the owner of an expensive automobile found near the scene of the killing of Policeman James Skelley of New Britain, Conn.

It was the first step in the state's efforts to connect Chapman with the murder.

The automobile was from Steubenville, Ohio, and Catherine Boorn of Steubenville identified Chapman as the man who had discussed purchase of the car with her.

Spiders in Amazon Big as Small Rat

A traveler who has recently returned from an expedition into the forests of the Amazon tells that he was much more frightened by the huge spiders he encountered than by the jaguars, according to London Answers. There is certainly something awe-inspiring in his description of a species of Amazon spiders as creatures with long legs, fat, black bodies, about the size of a young rat, and the wickedest, most fiendish eyes imaginable!

These spiders make "trap doors" on the ground, beautifully camouflaged, and so perfectly balanced that they shut by their own weight. Beneath them are tunnels or pits in which the huge spiders watch for their prey.

Another spider is spotted like a leopard and spins a web quite a yard across. The strands of this huge web, suspended between two trees, are so strong and tough that if a small bird flies into them it is unable to escape before the arrival of the spider, which makes short work of its struggles.

The Civil Service Commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Brainerd and other cities throughout the United States for elementary teacher (grades 1-6), junior high school teacher (grades 7-9), and senior high school teacher (grades 10-12) to fill vacancies in the Indian Service, applicants were not secured in the number desired and that these examinations will be held again. Receipt of applications will close April 8. The date for the assembling of competitors will be stated on the admission cards sent to applicants after the close of receipt of applications.

Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

INSECT ARMY AT WAR WITH ALL MANKIND

DESTRUCTIVENESS DUE TO DEMANDS FOR FOOD
GROWING MILLIONS OF THE ARMIES OF RUIN

By DALE VAN EVERY
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Washington, March 27.—Thousands of species of insects are engaged in the war with man.

There are those which destroy the mightiest pine trees and those which destroy rose bushes; those which destroy furs and woollens in the household and those which destroy cattle in the fields; those which destroy lawns, shade trees, golf courses, and kitchen gardens and those which destroy the nation's most important crops.

Their destructiveness is due to their insatiable search for food. Most insects multiply at an inconceivable rate because in the ordinary workings of nature few of the thousands or millions of offsprings of one pair of insects ever grows up. But the millions of larvae produced by one male and female in the course of a season eat voraciously during their early lives, even if they fail to complete their life history. It is the excessive birth rate even though it may be accompanied by a relatively high death rate which requires so stupendous an amount of food to sustain the insect population.

Of the myriad species of insects the following are among the better known and may be taken as illustrations of the general scope of the insect menace.

The Cotton Boll Weevil

The boll weevil infests most of the cotton belt of the South, causing an annual damage of nearly $300,000,000. The adult weevil hibernates during the winter, but during the summer produces many generations of offspring which in the larva stage feed upon the squares and bolls of cotton plants. The cotton production of the country would have been entirely destroyed were it not for certain natural enemies of the weevils—parasites which feed upon the larva, other insects which destroy them, birds which eat them, and periodical hot spells which kill a proportion of the young. Measures taken by man, including poisoning with calcium arsenate and regulating the preparation of seed and time of planting, have materially aided in repressing the depredations of the boll weevil, but the insect remains the greatest problem of the cotton planter.

Japanese Beetle

The Japanese beetle was accidentally introduced in Burlington County, New Jersey, in 1916. Like the boll weevil, it does not seem to have been a serious pest in its original environment but it has already become the most dangerous insect menace in New Jersey and Pennsylvania. It eats almost everything green from young fruit to weeds. Measures so far taken have failed to restrict its rapid spread and it is feared it may become as important a crop menace as the boll weevil.

European Corn Borer

The corn borer was introduced from Hungary or Italy in 1909 and has already become a corn pest of prime importance. At present it has been identified only in portions of New England, New York and the borders of Lake Erie. Aside from attacking corn by tunneling in the stalk and in the actual ears, the corn borer attacks many other forms of economic plants, including beans, beets and celery. The department is taking drastic steps to prevent the spread of the pest to the great corn region of the middle west.

Codling Moth

The codling moth is the most notable example of the hundreds of insect pests which cost apple growers approximately 20 per cent of their crop annually. The larva of the moth burrows through the apple, either totally destroying it or spoiling its commercial value.

Cattle Tick

The cattle tick, formerly prevalent through most of the south, injures cattle by blood sucking and by transmitting "tick fever." It has been placed under some control by rigorous quarantine and dipping methods. Nevertheless it constitutes a menace to cattle which must be constantly guarded against and apart from the loss of cattle causes an important economic loss due to the necessity of preventive measures.

Southern Pine Beetle

The southern pine beetle is smaller than a grain of rice and yet its attacks ruins millions of the finest southern pine trees every year. Its larvae burrow under the bark, feeding on the tender inner surface of the bark, eventually killing the tree. Depredations of this beetle have caused far greater loss than forest fires in the south. The one practical method of control recommended by the department is felling infected trees and burning the bark to kill the hibernating beetles.

Fine Distinction Made Between Common Words

"Loan" as a verb is extensively used in the United States. There is some authority for such usage since it has so appeared from time to time in literature over the last four or five hundred years. Such usage, however, is frowned upon by grammarians who insist that "loan" is a noun only, says the Literary Digest.

Dictionaries, which must be simply recorders of the language as it is used, recognize "loan" as a verb, meaning "to lend money, especially on interest," and Doctor Vizetelly in his "Desk Book of Errors in English" says: "Loan, lend; one may raise (put an end to) a 'loan' by paying both principal and interest, and another may 'lend' money to do so. The use of 'loan' as a verb, meaning 'to grant the loan of or lend, as ships, money, linen, provisions, etc.' dates from the year 1200 and is accepted as good English. Some purists, however, characterize it colloquial." To some ears "lend" may be preferable, but "loan" is not incorrect, and has the support of Acts 34 and 35 of Henry VIII (1542), Langley (1644), Fossenden (1729), Calhoun (1834), Brownson (1847), Bonamy-Price (1890) the North American Review, February, 1901, etc.

"Presence" Means Much

A graceful presence bespeaks acceptance, gives a force to language, and helps to convince by look and posture.

CAR IDENTIFIED AS CHAPMAN'S

FIRST LINK IN EVIDENCE WOVEN AGAINST "PRINCE OF CROOKS"

(By United Press)
Hartford, Conn., March 27.—Gerard Chapman, "prince of crooks," on trial here for murder today was identified as the owner of an expensive automobile found near the scene of the killing of Policeman James Skelley of New Britain, Conn.

It was the first step in the state's efforts to connect Chapman with the murder.

The automobile was from Steubenville, Ohio, and Catherine Boorn of Steubenville identified Chapman as the man who had discussed purchase of the car with her.

Spiders in Amazon Big as Small Rat

A traveler who has recently returned from an expedition into the forests of the Amazon tells that he was much more frightened by the huge spiders he encountered than by the jaguars, according to London Answers. There is certainly something awe-inspiring in his description of a species of Amazon spiders as creatures with long legs, fat, black bodies, about the size of a young rat, and the wickedest, most fiendish eyes imaginable!

These spiders make "trap doors" on the ground, beautifully camouflaged, and so perfectly balanced that they shut by their own weight. Beneath them are tunnels or pits in which the huge spiders watch for their prey.

Another spider is spotted like a leopard and spins a web quite a yard across. The strands of this huge web, suspended between two trees, are so strong and tough that if a small bird flies into them it is unable to escape before the arrival of the spider, which makes short work of its struggles.

CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS

Those Called For Various Teachers to Fill Vacancies in Indian Service to be Repeated

The Civil Service Commission invites special attention to the fact that in examinations held recently in Brainerd and other cities throughout the United States for elementary teacher (grades 1-6), junior high school teacher (grades 7-9), and senior high school teacher (grades 10-12) to fill vacancies in the Indian Service, applicants were not secured in the number desired and that these examinations will be held again. Receipt of applications will close April 8. The date for the assembling of competitors will be stated on the admission cards sent to applicants after the close of receipt of applications.

Persons interested in these or other examinations should apply to the Secretary of the United States Civil Service Board at the local post office for detailed information and application blanks.

MINNESOTA'S 1925 OUTLAY ON MOTOR VEHICLES TO BE 25 TIMES ROAD OUTLAY

The Crow Wing county automobile bill this year will be over $2,000,000, exclusive of some $83,000 of motor vehicle taxes toward highway improvements to reduce the auto running expense, according to estimates in a state highway bulletin this week. Minnesota's automobile bill on about 525,000 motor vehicles will total some $225,000,000, it adds, and that of the United States will approximate $7,500,000,000, on a basis of 17,500,000 machines.

The county total is prorated on state figures. The number of motor vehicles in the state this year placed in bulletin figures at 525,000, the average cost to owners at about $230 a year. This is at the rate of 8½ cents a mile for 5,000, or 7 cents on 6,000 miles travel average.

The state total is made up of $131,000,000 of depreciation and repairs, $45,000,000 of gasoline and oil; $25,000,000 of tires; $20,000,000 of new automobiles and trucks, and $4,000,000 of insurance premiums and miscellaneous items.

"A few dollars reduction in the state auto tax now may look big to many automobile owners," says the bulletin. "He forgets at the time that every dollar of the tax is going for better roads which in turn will reduce his car running expenses in greater amount. The figures on a low average of $430 of car expense may bring out the economical side. Realization that the automobile bill in the state is about $225,000,000 a year—including the $45,000,000 for gasoline and oil and that of $25,000,000 for tires alone—may put a less formidable aspect on proposals for $10,000,000 or $12,000,000 for the 7,000 miles of trunk highways on which to run cars at less cost."

Incidentally, railroads reverse the ratio and put more than ten times as much in roads as in rolling stock.

Times Have Changed

In the good old days, when a wagon broke down in the road we used to gather around it and put in several hours apiece inquiring how the contraptions occurred, sympathizing with the owner of the vehicle, and recalling and describing in the most minute detail sundry incidents of similar character which had transpired in the past. But nowadays when a motorcar blows out a tire we go right on.—Eh-yah!—Kansas City Star.

St. Paul Pays $72 to Try Case Involving 25 Cents

St. Paul, March 27.—The 25-cent municipal court case has already cost the taxpayers at least $72.

This was revealed when Comptroller W. F. Scott was asked to make out checks to the jurymen for their services of four days hearing the testimony in the case.

The jury trial was demanded by A. L. Stern accused of petit larceny in alleged failure to pay a meal check for 25 cents at the Golden Rule cafe.

The first jury disagreed and another trial has been set for March 28.

Perfect Time Keeping

The basis of reckoning standard time at the United States naval observatory is transit observation of the stars. The observatory has three standard clocks running in a constant temperature vault, electrically wound and sealed to keep the air pressure constant. Meridian circle observations of selected stars are taken regularly on clear nights and from these observations the errors of the standard clocks are determined and corrected.

We congratulate both Mr. Potter and the Contractor on the unique way in which the roof was braced. It is sure to stand heavy wind pressure.

The floor arrangement gives Mr. Potter's stock plenty of light, fresh air and room. He is very successful with horses, cattle and sheep. This new barn is going to help him make still better records. Who is next?

CANISTERS, CANS
AND CARTONS

By Barbara Brooks, Battle Creek, Mich.
Abe Martin says, "Where, oh, where is the old fashioned girl who used to manufacture a meal instead of assemble it?"

Thanks to the food manufacturers, a meal can be assembled today which, if a wise selection is made, will be nutritious and appetizing. The "makings" may come in canisters, cans or cartons, and the purchaser will be sure that the contents are absolutely clean and sanitary. Package goods have won a place in the minds of housekeepers because of their high standard of quality. The label tells what is inside, and the contents must be up to specifications.

The word "canister" comes from the Greek word meaning "reed." Woven reed baskets used for tea, coffee, beans and peas were called canisters. It was not until 1810 that an Englishman took out a patent for preserving food in "tin canisters." Early canisters shortened this word to "can" and today the words "tin" and "can" are almost synonymous.

Carton usually means a paper container. Breakfast cereals such as corn flakes are packed in cartons. A bag of heavy waxed paper lines the carton so that no moisture can take away the crispness of the flakes.

What kind of a breakfast can we assemble from cans, canisters and cartons? For a first course, canned grape fruit will be appetizing, next corn flakes or all bran, from their sanitary cartons. Would you like cod fish cakes or kippered herring from their cans for a main course? And coffee from its canister! Add toast with butter and marmalade from a glass container, and we challenge anyone to manufacture any morning meal which will taste better than one which is well assembled.

Early Dutch Names

Brooklyn was the name given originally to Brooklyn when it was organized as a village by the early settlers, Dutch colonists, about the year 1645. Flatbush was called Midwout by its Dutch founders in 1651.

CANISTERS, CANS
AND CARTONS

By Barbara Brooks, Battle Creek, Mich.
Abe Martin says, "Where, oh, where is the old fashioned girl who used to manufacture a meal instead of assemble it?"

Thanks to the food manufacturers, a meal can be assembled today which, if a wise selection is made, will be nutritious and appetizing. The "makings" may come in canisters, cans or cartons, and the purchaser will be sure that the contents are absolutely clean and sanitary. Package goods have won a place in the minds of housekeepers because of their high standard of quality. The label tells what is inside, and the contents must be up to specifications.

The word "canister" comes from the Greek word meaning "reed." Woven reed baskets used for tea, coffee, beans and peas were called canisters. It was not until 1810 that an Englishman took out a patent for preserving food in "tin canisters." Early canners shortened this word to "can" and today the words "tin" and "can" are almost synonymous.

Carton usually means a paper container. Breakfast cereals such as corn flakes are packed in cartons. A bag of heavy waxed paper lines the carton so that no moisture can take away the crispness of the flakes.

What kind of a breakfast can we assemble from cans, canisters and cartons? For a first course, canned grape fruit will be appetizing, next corn flakes or all bran, from their sanitary cartons. Would you like cod fish cakes or kippered herring from their cans for a main course? And coffee from its canister! Add toast with butter and marmalade from a glass container, and we challenge anyone to manufacture any morning meal which will taste better than one which is well assembled.

LABOR

CO-OPERATION

IS THE FIRST PRINCIPLE OF SUCCESS CAPITAL

Greater industrial growth for Brainerd and Minnesota is ahead. The logical and only way to build up a community such as this, is to show your own faith in a definite, concrete and practical way. The dollar expended with HOME INDUSTRY eventually returns to the good citizen, who spent it. The dollar sent out of the community for commodities that could be purchased in Brainerd may never return; in fact it seldom does.

These firms and organizations are listed among Brainerd's most enterprising and reputable 'Future Builders'. Co-operate with them and increase the value of the community

THE DIGNITY OF LABOR BEING RECOGNIZED

By the E. L. C. League

WE are educating 90 per cent of our youths to be white-collar workers, but have white-collar jobs for only ten per cent. We know something about what overproduction leads to in wheat and in other products. We are soon to learn what it means in a mass of human beings wrongly prepared for doing their part in the world's work to its benefit and their own well-being.

The wages now paid to skilled craftsmen far exceed the salaries paid to clerks and bookkeepers.

The disparity of reward is sure to increase with the rapid growth of the white-collar army and the fast-growing demand for men who work with hands that are skilled.

Our industries clamor for the trained worker. But our schools continue to turn out thousands upon thousands of young men and women fitted only for already over-crowded professions.

Many different reasons are assigned by historians for the fall of the Roman Empire. Rome, however, did not fall until the Romans grew too proud to labor.

Neither physically, morally, nor economically can any white-collar nation long endure.

At this moment, there is nothing that would help many a too-smart-to-work generation more than a little judicious adversity. If they do not get it, those who do, will, in about 25 years, inherit the earth and the fullness thereof and take their full share of things, having earned it by a service of which the world was in need. Adversity is a great teacher.

The fiber, stability, soundness of American life depends on establishing the dignity of labor, not a copybook maxim, but as a national habit of mind.

Progress, prosperity and world markets are not for white-collar nations. When restored Europe again settles down to work, her myriad skilled workers will put up no soft sort of competition for these United States. If we are to hold our place in world commerce we shall have to roll up our sleeves, overcome our aversion to soiling our hands and learn again the blessedness, the health, the joy of productive labor.

We must educate hand as well as head. We need this kind of up-bringing for all manner of reasons. It builds character as well as self-reliant independence.

Nearly all, if not all of our men of achievement came from a school which educated mind, heart and hand.

"The dignity of labor" is no empty phrase. It is the expression of a great truth.

A trade, vocational training for all, is the complement of a balanced education. Without such training for its citizens the United States cannot maintain its traditions, its national health, nor its place in the world. We are beginning to see it, and none too soon.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

We Should Develop More Of It Here

EVERYBODY is put in this world to get all the happiness he can, in the widest sense of the term.

In order to be happy, we need to express freely our personalities, to give all our faculties full scope. Happiness consists of making the most of what is in us.

A man is as large as his interests, so the caliber of a community can be taken by noting the number and the importance of the objects, activities, etc., which have for the people a live interest.

Community co-operation, in political, industrial, religious and social activities tends to strengthen each individual's desire for more education, without which there can be no advancement.

Every bee makes the same kind of honeycomb his parents made, every beaver builds a dam just like his great-grandfather did, every animal begins where his father began, hence there is no progress. Animal life simply goes round and round in the same circle, but a human being begins where his father left off. Each generation stands on the preceding generation's shoulders; so mankind makes progress, while brute-dom stands still.

Education is the world's accumulated information, and it is free to all. Those who get it, easily outdo those who neglect it.

Each individual in a community is a thread in a fabric, a brick in the social wall, a link in the social chain.

What you get out of life depends quite as much on what you do for the advancement of others as on what you do for yourself.

Education enables us to learn organization; we become a member of a class. We become pigeonholed, find out our place, become co-ordinated and develop a group consciousness that increases both our contentment and efficiency.

We must learn team play, until we develop community co-operation we will find only outside competition.

The slaves of blind competition work for the kings of co-operation, and the prizes of life are for those who understand how to co-operate.

ECONOMIC FUNDAMENTALS

1. LAND is the natural resource, the cardinal prerequisite, from which all life comes forth, and by which life in its varying cycles is sustained.

2. LIFE is essential to the generation, the expression and the operation of mind.

3. MIND is the life force which initiates and directs all governable energy.

4. HUMAN ENERGY, expended either mentally or physically, constitutes service or labor.

5. LABOR applied to land or its products, when wisely employed, produces wealth. Its return is wages, salaries or fees.

6. WEALTH is the product of labor applied to land. When labor employs capital to assist it, labor's efficiency may be greatly increased. Labor earns its return in wages, plus a profit to the capitalist, before payment of wages is made, or no increase in wealth is possible.

7. CAPITAL is the unconsumed portion of the surplus wealth that labor has produced, which labor actively employs in increasing its productive power in the process of production and exchange. The increased production resulting from the use of capital allows added wages to labor, and profits to productively employed capital.

8. WAGES, salaries and fees for service rendered, are the returns to labor. Their aggregate amount depends wholly upon the margin of production unabsorbed by interest and ground rent.

9. INTEREST is the return for capital loaned. Its per cent of return depends upon the margin of production unabsorbed by wages and "ground rent."

10. ECONOMIC RENT, "ground rent" or "land value," is purely a socially produced value. It is that value incident to land locations, and arises in proportion as populations increase or concentrate. It accurately measures public services enjoyed by or available to holders of locations. The proportion of the total wealth produced in a nation that is absorbed by ground rent, depends upon the relative scarcity of available locations. Capital and labor can get only what is left after ground rent has taken its share. Ethically, ground rent belongs to the public producing it.

11. UTILIZED LAND and labor, supplemented by productively employed capital, are the three sole factors of wealth production.

12. ETHICS demand that, with as much accuracy as may be practicable, privately produced values should in undiminished measure go to their producers, and that likewise, publicly produced values should go to the public producing them. No other basis of wealth distribution can be strictly honorable or permanent.

THE DIGNITY OF LABOR BEING RECOGNIZED

By the E. L. C. League

WE are educating 90 per cent of our youths to be white-collar workers, but have white-collar jobs for only ten per cent. We know something about what overproduction leads to in wheat and in other products. We are soon to learn what it means in a mass of human beings wrongly prepared for doing their part in the world's work to its benefit and their own well-being.

The wages now paid to skilled craftsmen far exceed the salaries paid to clerks and bookkeepers.

The disparity of reward is sure to increase with the rapid growth of the white-collar army and the fast-growing demand for men who work with hands that are skilled.

Our industries clamor for the trained worker. But our schools continue to turn out thousands upon thousands of young men and women fitted only for already over-crowded professions.

Many different reasons are assigned by historians for the fall of the Roman Empire. Rome, however, did not fall until the Romans grew too proud to labor.

Neither physically, morally, nor economically can any white-collar nation long endure.

At this moment, there is nothing that would help many a too-smart-to-work generation more than a little judicious adversity. If they do not get it, those who do, will, in about 25 years, inherit the earth and the fullness thereof and take their full share of things, having earned it by a service of which the world was in need. Adversity is a great teacher.

The fiber, stability, soundness of American life depends on establishing the dignity of labor, not a copybook maxim, but as a national habit of mind.

Progress, prosperity and world markets are not for white-collar nations. When restored Europe again settles down to work, her myriad skilled workers will put up no soft sort of competition for these United States. If we are to hold our place in world commerce we shall have to roll up our sleeves, overcome our aversion to soiling our hands and learn again the blessedness, the health, the joy of productive labor.

We must educate hand as well as head. We need this kind of up-bringing for all manner of reasons. It builds character as well as self-reliant independence.

Nearly all, if not all of our men of achievement came from a school which educated mind, heart and hand.

"The dignity of labor" is no empty phrase. It is the expression of a great truth.

A trade, vocational training for all, is the complement of a balanced education. Without such training for its citizens the United States cannot maintain its traditions, its national health, nor its place in the world. We are beginning to see it, and none too soon.

COMMUNITY CO-OPERATION

We Should Develop More Of It Here

EVERYBODY is put in this world to get all the happiness he can, in the widest sense of the term.

In order to be happy, we need to express freely our personalities, to give all our faculties full scope. Happiness consists of making the most of what is in us.
